CITY POSTOFFICE BUSINESS SETS ALL-TIME MARK

12 PerCent Gain Over 1935 Shown in Receipts For 24 Days of December

MANY PIECES HANDLED

52,400 One and One-Half Cent Stamps Dispensed

Incoming parcel post business at the local postoffice this Christmas season surpassed all previous years in the history of the institution.

Postmaster A. Hulse Hays and his workers verified this statement Saturday as they "caught their breath" from the "rush" business, and settled down on a normal pace. With the assistance of five substitute carriers and three substitute clerks the office was cleared Thursday evening. Only special delivery packages arriving on the night trains were distributed Friday.

12 Percent Gain During the period from Dec. 1 to Dec. 24, this year the office's business amounted to $9,917.97, an increase of over 12 percent over 1935 when the business for the same period was $8,848.78.

Mr. Hays said figures for the last quarter of the year will not be available until the first of the year and at that time comparisons can be completed with previous years.

26,445 Pieces Handled The record day in the postoffice this year was Dec. 21 when 26,445 pieces of letter mail were run through the cancelling machine. On Dec. 22 the total was 17,159. Dec. 23, 10,885 and Dec. 24, 3,993.

During the first 24 days of the month 52,400 one and one-half cent stamps were sold. The record day was the twenty-first when 21,000 were issued. In 1935 the total one and a half cent stamps sold during the 24-day period was 43,000, and the highest sale in one day was on Dec. 20 when 4,200 were issued.

ENTRIES NEEDED TO WIN PRIZES FOR DECORATION

Persons wishing to enter the Circleville home decoration contest should call The Daily Herald office, on telephones 782 or 581 to report their names and addresses.

Six o'clock Monday evening is the final hour for listing entries. The homes have been divided into two classes, those valued at not more than $5,000 and those valued over that figure.

Judging will be done only on houses officially entered. The prize winners will be chosen between Dec. 29 and Jan. 2. Merchandise prizes are at stake.

100 Pct. New Deal

ON A "goodwill" tour to Washington, Governor-elect E. D. Rivers of Georgia assures Democratic administration leaders that his state will be 100 per cent New Deal. Rivers will succeed Gov. Eugene Talmadge, who was 100 per cent anti-New Deal. Jan. 12. Rivers spoke in Circleville in the recent campaign.

COUNTY WOMAN DIES IN WHITE CROSS HOSPITAL

Mrs. Janet Beavers Prushing, 51, wife of F. D. Prushing, of near Commercial Point, died Thursday evening in White Cross hospital, Columbus.

The husband, a daughter, Helen Doersam; a sister, Mrs. R. R. Walker; two brothers, William M. and Howard C. Beavers, survive.

The funeral will be Sunday at 1 p. m. at the residence with burial in the Darbyville cemetery.

SLAYER OF FOUR PAYS PENALTY IN DEATH CHAIR

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 26.—(UP)—Harry Singer smoked his last cigarette as the Michigan state prison clock ticked the passing of Christmas, then walked to his death in the electric chair early today.

The 25-year-old farmhand beat Marjorie Kaufman, 12, to death, shot her parents to death to silence them, and after his arrest confessed also the holdup slaying of Joseph Bryant near Wabash, Ind.

Spurned by his relatives, Singer spent his last day quietly and alone, smoking incessantly. He shared the regular prison Christmas dinner of roast chicken, and for his last meal, in the evening, selected fried chicken.

Singer was led from his cell at 12:06 a. m., and received his first shock in the electric chair one minute later. He was pronounced dead at 12:14 a. m.

SPANISH SEIZE NAZI STEAMER, DISPATCH SAYS

MADRID, Dec. 26.—(UP)—A news agency dispatch from Bilbao asserted today that a loyalist coast guard cutter seized the German merchant ship Palos, believed to be carrying contraband material to the nationalists, after firing several shots across its bows. The ship was seized near the outer port of Bilbao, the dispatch said, and taken into the port by a loyalist crew which boarded it. The cargo was unloaded, the dispatch said, and a Spanish member of the Palos crew was arrested.

The dispatch reported the Palos to be a ship of 1,500 tons. There is a Palos of Hamburg, Germany, of 997 tons.

PRESENT — PLUS! CLEVELAND, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Five-year-old Louise Lucas wanted a doll and a brother or a sister for Christmas. Today, she had the doll and a brother and a sister, twins.

FRENCH SUBMIT NEW ARMS PLAN TO NEIGHBORS

Help Being Given to Two Combatants in Spain Basis for Action

NEW TROUBLE FEARED

Control of Financial Aid to Factions Suggested

PARIS, Dec. 26.—(UP)—France has submitted to the powers a drastic new plan to tighten embargoes on arms, men and money to Spain.

The plan was submitted as French and British ambassadors to the chief powers pointed out anew the danger of an international explosion from the aid now being given openly to the factions in the Spanish civil war.

France's new neutrality plan is notable for two reasons:

New Plan Notable

1.—It envisages strict control of financial aid to the factions as well as control of the supplies of men and arms pouring into Spain.

2.—France delivered a special copy of the plan to the British government with the pledge that she herself would accept, on her own territory as Spain's chief neighbor, all measures necessary to make it effective provided other nations took similar steps.

It was understood that both France and Britain continued ready to aid Nazi Germany financially if Hitler would agree to stop sending men to the nationalists; but that if he persisted in sending them, France would reserve freedom of action to give any aid she saw fit to the loyalists.

France's plan was submitted formally to the international committee on non-intervention in the civil war, with a separate copy to Britain which Andre Charles Corbin, French ambassador at London, delivered to the foreign office there.

Much depended on Portugal, Portugal and France alone border directly on Spain and alone can check leaks through which smugglers are running thousands of tons of war materials across the frontiers. If any sort of cooperation could be obtained from Germany and Italy, and pro-nationalist Portugal closed its frontier, it is held here that the Spanish war would die soon because neither would have ammunition.

F. D. R. STUDIES BUDGET, SPEECH FOR INAUGURAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—President Roosevelt turned today from a family Christmas celebration to framing three important state documents—his annual message to congress, the budget for the next fiscal year and his inaugural address.

The chief executive will spend most of his time during the next ten days preparing legislative recommendations and a picture of the nation's finances. They must be ready for congress when it convenes Jan. 5.

Close friends believe he will at the same time give some attention to his inaugural speech, possibly outlining it roughly.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was learned, has not decided whether to follow his custom of delivering his message to congress in person. There was a feeling that he would again read it himself instead of sending it up for a clerk to present.

OFFICIALS DOING WORK OF "VACATIONING" DEPUTIES

Many officers in the courthouse were operating with skeleton forces Saturday while employees took vacations over the week-end. Employees of the auditor's and treasurer's office were on vacation while Forrest Short and Robert Colville, auditor and treasurer, respectively, took care of office business.

Death Toll Over 200

BY UNITED PRESS Christmas brought violent death to at least 214 men, women, and children, a United Press survey showed today.

Murder, suicide and accidents swept the nation from coast to coast. A state-by-state tabulation disclosed 214 deaths in 31 states and the District of Columbia. The final count was expected to exceed 250. Automobile accidents caused the most deaths as unseasonably warm weather attracted hundreds of thousands of motorists to the highways.

Airplane crashes cost two lives, one in Framingham, Mass., another near St. Louis. Firecrackers caused one death in Miami, Fla., and a wild celebration in New Orleans culminated in murder. There were seven murders in Alabama alone.

Marie Wyant, 9, celebrating her first Christmas out of Alaskan wilds, was accidentally shot by a five-year-old boy and died in Seattle.

Fred Brunscheen, 77 unable to bear Christmas grieving for his wife who died Thursday, shot himself to death.

Violent deaths by states: Alabama 8, Arkansas 4, California 18, Delaware 1, District of Columbia 4, Florida 3, Georgia 1, Indiana 6, Illinois 31, Iowa 7, Kansas 4, Kentucky 1, Louisiana 4, Maryland 3, Massachusetts 3, Michigan 14, Minnesota 3, Missouri 11, New York 4, Ohio 4, Oregon 1, Pennsylvania 6, Texas 13, Utah 2, Virginia 3, Washington 3, Wisconsin 3.

Duke, Wally To Wed In Austrian Castle

ENZESFELD, Austria, Dec. 26.—(UP)—It was persistently reported today that Edward VIII, Duke of Windsor, had decided to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson in the chapel of Enzesfeld castle as soon as her divorce decree had become final.

Edward, according to the reports, has obtained the consent of Rev. C. D. H. Grimes, chaplain of the British legation at Vienna, to perform the ceremony.

The duke's reading of the first 26 verses of the gospel of St. Luke—telling of the birth of Christ—at services at the English chapel at which the Rev. Mr. Grimes officiated was said not to be unconnected with his reported decision to marry Mrs. Simpson here.

It was said that Edward had won the pastor to his cause and that he would marry Mrs. Simpson at the British chapel except for a desire to honor his hosts, Baron and Baroness Eugene De Rothschild, by selecting the chapel of their castle for a ceremony that would become historic.

The duke's attendance at chapel yesterday, and his reading of the simple story of Christ's birth, was regarded here as a master stroke in retort to the archbishops of Canterbury and York, in England, and others who had criticized him, when he was unable to reply for failure to attend church and for his circle of friends. It roused great admiration for him also among the pious people of Enzesfeld, inclined to remember they thought of him, the charges that he was irreligious.

There were hints that the duke might depart from his seclusion here New Year's Eve and that he would start the new year by attending some of the more conservative balls during the Vienna carnival season which lasts from New Year's Day until Lent.

Edward was understood to have telephoned today to Archduke Anton of Hapsburg and his wife Princess Helena of Roumania, at Sonnenberg castle, postponing until early in January a visit to them he had considered making during the holidays.

He was pale and devout looking as he read the lesson in a clear, firm voice. The Rev. Mr. Grimes preached the sermon on peace and good will, without allusion to the duke. The duke joined heartily with the choir and the rest of the congregation in singing "God Save the King" in honor of his brother King George VI at the end of the services.

Afterward, the British minister gave a luncheon at the legation across the street in the duke's honor. The Rev. Mr. Grimes and others were present. Turkey and plum pudding featured the meal. During the lunch, the duke was informed by telephone from London that a daughter had been born to his brother and sister-in-law, the Duke and Duchess of Kent. After the lunch, Edward left for the castle.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS MONDAY TO STUDY BIDS

Members of the city Board of Education will meet at 1 p. m. Monday to open bids for the new addition to the high school and Corwin street buildings. Bids are to be submitted before 12 o'clock noon. The addition will be constructed through a $36,900 grant from PWA and a $50,000 bond issue by the city. Notes have been sold in anticipation of the bond issue.

VATICAN SAYS POPE PIUS FAIR AFTER TALKING

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Pope Pius XI had a "rather fair" night and awoke at 6 a. m. (midnight EST) today, appearing in "high spirits," the Vatican announced officially.

Prof. Amintore Milani, the Pontiff's personal physician, visited the Pope at 6:40 a. m. and reported his 79-year-old patient's condition as "satisfactory."

Another source stated, however, that the pope's sleep was agitated somewhat because of acute pains in his swollen leg.

Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, who was unable to see the holy father yesterday because he was celebrating high mass at St. Peter Basilica, planned to visit him today.

His holiness appeared strengthened and cheered yesterday by thousands of telegrams and cables congratulating him on his Christmas broadcast to the world. Prof. Milani said the pope had made an "amazing" recovery of strength after the strain of the broadcast.

CITY'S WATER PLANT OFFER TO BE DRAWN

WASHINGTON, C. H. Dec. 26 The city's offer of $350,000 for the plant of the Ohio Water Service Co., may be withdrawn at any time, councilmen indicated. A letter from the company rejecting the offer was read at a recent meeting.

SATURDAY "EXCHANGE" DAY IN CIRCLEVILLE

Saturday was "exchange day" in Circleville's stores.

Dad's tie, a bit too gaudy; Mary's hose that would fit Aunt Emma, and mother's dress that hung like draperies, were brought back for exchanges.

Practically all stores will start preparations next week for inventories.

Girl, 23, Heroine Of Plane Crash

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Miss Odessa LaFevre, 23, today emerged as the heroine of a plane crash which killed one man and seriously injured another.

Miss LaFevre was riding along the shores of the Meramec river yesterday near Sylvan beach when the plane, piloted by Al Constance, St. Louis, struck a tree and plunged into the shallows of the river. His passenger, McCoy Sanders, 28, was killed. The girl jumped from her horse and swam, fully clothed, out to the

Santa Ruled Legal

THERE is a Santa Claus! So much so that Judge Michael A. Musmanno of Pittsburgh, president judge of the Allegheny county criminal court, will hold a trial in contempt of court if you fail to recognize the wisdom of the ruling. Giving his opinions on Santa, Judge Musmanno said if there is no Santa Claus, there is no Jack Frost, no Cupid, and no Uncle Sam, and, finally, "if the court recognizes John Doe, it will certainly respect Santa."

KAI-SHEK FREED, CHINA RETURNS TO NORMAL LIFE

NANKING, China, Dec. 26.—(UP)—The most dramatic kidnapping case in China's long history was brought to a dramatic end today. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, China's strong man, leader of 300,000,000 people, returned to Nanking by airplane. With him came "young marshal" Chang Hsueh-Liang, who kidnapped him in an effort to force war against Japan.

For two weeks the generalissimo had been an honored, but enforced guest of the young marshal high in the mountains of western China while negotiations were conducted for his release and, at the same time, tens of thousands of motley soldiers massed all over that part of the country ready for civil war.

Now, the war is not to occur and it is asserted that everything has been forgiven.

What conditions if any led to the release of the generalissimo were kept secret. Officially, there were no conditions and the young marshal, repenting his audacious coup, had come to Nanking, throwing himself on the mercy of the government, to take what punishment might be given. Unofficially, there were reports that the government agreed to pay the young marshal's troops, known as the northeastern army, millions of dollars in back pay and that the young marshal himself might take a long "vacation" abroad — perhaps with more millions.

MAN, TWO WOMEN HOLIDAY VICTIMS

Bridge Over Ross County Creek, Less Than Two Miles South of Pickaway Line, Scene of Early Christmas Morning Tragedy

DRIVER ESCAPES WITH CUT ON LEG

W. Main Street Youth Bruised After Running Against Side of Moving Automobile

Three Columbus residents were killed and a fourth injured Thursday night when the auto in which they were riding struck the Black Water Run bridge on Route 23 near the Pickaway-Ross county line in Ross county.

Those killed were Albert Thompson, 40, and his wife, 33, and Miss Grace Hartley, 23. Fred C. Carper, driver of the car, escaped with a leg cut. All lived at 3400 E. Long street.

Carper told state highway patrolmen another car sideswiped his auto. His car hit the bridge, shearing one side. The three passengers were thrown out.

Planning Wedding Carper said he and Miss Hartley were to be married next week and a wedding party had been arranged for New Year's day.

The group was enroute to Point Pleasant, W. Va. to visit Miss Hartley's mother, Mrs. Laura Hartley. The bodies of the three victims were returned to Point Pleasant, their former home for services and burial. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson had lived in Columbus several years. They had no children.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Miller Fissell and Fred Clark of the Albaugh firm were notified about the accident. The first report received was to the effect the crash occurred at the bridge over Scippo creek near the Gold Cliff Chateau.

After failing to find any mishap in this county they continued south on the highway into Ross county. Local officers assisted Ross countians in directing traffic until the wreckage was cleared. No serious auto accidents were reported in Pickaway county over the holiday.

Other Autos Collide Autos driven by Blenard Throckmorton, 628 S. Scioto street, and Robert Greisheimer, Union street and Abernethy avenue, were damaged Thursday evening when they were in collision at Mill and Pickaway streets. No one was seriously injured.

Freddie Brown, W. Main street youth, suffered bruises and contusions Thursday evening when he ran into the auto of Willard Reed, Stoutsville, Route 1, while riding a bicycle. Reed was turning into Clifton's garage, S. Court street, when the mishap occurred. One wheel of the car went over the youth's legs.

LINCOLN KIRKPATRICK'S ESTATE ESTIMATED $7,429

An inventory and appraisal filed in probate court Thursday values the estate Lincoln Kirkpatrick of New Holland at $7,429.48 of which $5,000 is listed as real estate. Percy May, William Mitchell and Milton Bennett were appraisers. McKinley Kirk is administrator.

BOAT CAPSIZES DURING HOLIDAY TRIP, 10 DROWN

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 26.—(UP)—With 10 known dead, police grappled today for the bodies of four others believed drowned when a launch capsized in sight of thousands of Christmas promenaders.

The tragedy occurred in Kingston harbor. The launch carried about 35 excursionists, including women and children.

Twenty passengers were dragged out of the water unconscious. They were revived by hospital attendants. Nine bodies were recovered. One person taken to hospital died.

Nearby boats rushed to scene. Their skippers and rescue work.

ROOSEVELT LEADS IN TRIBUTE TO ARTHUR BRISBANE, COLUMNIST

ATTACK FATAL TO FAMED MAN ON CHRISTMAS

Fate of "Today" Uncertain, Executives of Hearst Newspapers Report

HIGHEST PAID WRITER

Yearly Contract Called for $260,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—(UP)—Newspapers, newspapermen, and newspaper readers mourned today the passing of Arthur Brisbane, who, contrary to the tradition, made a fortune by his profession, and was one of the most widely read of all journalistic writers.

Executives of the Hearst newspapers discussed whether Brisbane's famous column, "Today," a front page feature for years, would be continued under new authorship. A decision will not be made, probably, until after the first of the year. In the meantime, no column will be published.

Condolences from professional brethren high and low, and lay admirers headed by President Roosevelt, poured in on the Brisbane family in their New York apartment where the editor and columnist died of heart disease at 72, early Christmas morning.

Tribute by Hearst

The tribute of William Randolph Hearst, Brisbane's employer for 39 years, occupied Brisbane's usual space in the Hearst newspapers today. Hearst said he had lost a man who had been more than a friend and more than a brother.

Other tributes came from Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, Robert P. Scripps, editorial director of the Scripps Howard newspapers, J. David Stern, publisher of the Stern newspapers, Roy W. Howard, editor of the New York World-Telegram, Frank E. Gannett, publisher of the Gannett newspapers, Chester Rowell, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, M. L. Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Miami Tribune, and many other newspapers.

Officials who expressed their sorrow included Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Gov. Henry Horner, of Illinois, Gov. Henry H. Blood of Utah, Gov. Frank F. Merriam of California, Gov. James M. Curley of Massachusetts, and Josephus Daniels, ambassador to Mexico.

Funeral services will be held at St. Bartholomew's church Monday at 10 a. m. with the Rev. G. P. T. Sargent, the rector, officiating. The body will be buried at Allaire, N. J., after a private ceremony.

Brisbane succumbed to the 15th of a series of attacks of coronary thrombosis that occurred within three weeks. The last attack struck Thursday after he had dictated his last column that appeared in yesterday's Hearst newspapers. Late Thursday night his son-in-law, J. H. R. McCrary, heard him whisper, bent near, heard these words: "Everything is for the best in this best of possible worlds."

These were the words of Voltaire's satirical character, Candide.

Wife at Bedside

Soon afterward an oxygen tent was placed over his bed. A few

LANNY ROSS AND JANE PICKENS TO APPEAR IN DUET

Noel Coward Listed for Appearance Monday Eve

Jane Pickens and Lanny Ross, guest master of ceremonies of the evening, will sing a duet, "Merry Widow Waltz," at the Saturday Night Party.

Ross and Miss Pickens are featured soloists, Miss Pickens of the Saturday Night Party and the Ziegfeld Follies and Ross of his own radio program. Both appear, too, as soloists this week in addition to the duet. Miss Pickens will select another number for her solo and Ross will sing "Serenade in the Night" and "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Other numbers scheduled for the 60-minute music and comedy broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. include "The Road to Mandalay" and "Ride Cowboy Ride" by Walter Cassel, baritone. The New Yorkers Chorus, under direction of Lyn Murray, will sing "One, Two, Button Your Shoe" and "Thou Swell," accompanied by Ferde Grofe's band. Orchestra numbers include "Rise and Shine" and "Nola," with special arrangements by Grofe and a piano specialty, "Hallelujah," Comedy by Tom Howard and George Shelton completes the show.

COWARD ON AIR

Noel Coward, author of "Cavalcade," will be heard between the acts of the Radio Theatre production of this play next Monday night, Dec. 28. The play itself will be broadcast from Hollywood over the Columbia network at 9 p. m. (EST) with Madeleine Carroll and Herbert Marshall in the leading roles.

Coward is now starring on Broadway with Gertrude Lawrence in "Tonight at 8:30" and so arrangements have been made hours before death, he lost consciousness. At the bedside were his wife, Mrs. Phoebe Cary Brisbane, his son, Seward, who supplied the last paragraph of his father's last column, the first writing by another man that ever appeared beneath his name, McCrary and Mrs. McCrary, and the three younger daughters, Emily, 16, Alice, 13, and Elinor, 12. His only grandchild, Michael McCrary, 9 months old, was sleeping in another room.

Brisbane's contract with the Hearst newspapers called for an annual salary of $260,000, for which he wrote his daily column, "Today," and Sunday editorials that were given a full page spread in the Hearst newspapers. He was heavily interested in New York City real estate. His homes included his large Manhattan apartment in an apartment building he owned, a 3,000-acre estate at Allaire, N. J., an old mansion at Hempstead, Long Island, a Catskill mountain summer home, a winter estate in Miami and a ranch in the west.

Brisbane was born in Buffalo, Dec. 12, 1864. His father, Albert, conducted a first page column for the New York Tribune, paying the advertising rate for his space. Well to do, he traveled a great deal and his son was educated in America, France, and Germany. At 19 he embarked on his career as a cub reporter for the New York Sun. Later he was managing editor of the Evening Sun and the New York World. From that latter position, Hearst engaged him as editor of the Evening Journal in 1897.

His service with the Hearst organization was uninterrupted there after.

Bing Crosby at Cliftona Starting Sunday!

LOVE FINDS a way of creeping into films, and no audience has objected as yet. Here we have the principals in a really fine romance—Bing Crosby and Madge Evans, who do their stuff in Columbia's new comedy-with-music, "Dennis from Heaven," showing Sunday at the Cliftona theatre. Bing sings—Madge sings. And Louis Armstrong, band leader, making his first screen appearance, sings.

DR. STANLEY JONES TO ADDRESS METHODISTS IN MAJOR GATHERING

Noted Preacher Speaks Of Fellowship Plans

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, author, lecturer, and Christian missionary to the peoples of Asia, will be the guest-speaker at a mobilization meeting of the Methodists of Columbus and surrounding communities of the Ohio Annual Conference in the Columbus Memorial Hall, on Friday evening, Jan. 15. In addition, Dr. Jones will have an "address and question" period in the afternoon. On Jan. 13 he will speak in Cincinnati, and on the 14th in Cleveland.

Dr. Jones is probably the best-known missionary evangelist in the world today. In India, Japan, Korea, Burma, China, and Malaya he has been heard by hundreds of thousands of people of the educated classes. South America, a few years ago, thronged a series of meetings which he held in their principal cities, and his following in the United States and Canada is probably unequalled by any other living religious leader. Dr. Jones was the most eagerly-sought preacher in the National Preaching Mission which during the past three months held meetings across America under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ. His address at Madison Square Garden, New York, drew an audience of 18,000 people.

Aids In Movement

Dr. Jones' visit to Columbus is in the interests of the "Million Unit Fellowship Movement"—a movement in the Methodist Episcopal Church to make the cause of missions and benevolences a "militant concern" of the whole denomination. This Fellowship was established at the General Conference of the Church, in May 1936, and is being pressed by Dr. Jones in visits to some fifty important Methodist centers throughout the country. Methodists in this area will secure tickets for admission to Dr. Jones' meeting from the pastors of their home churches.

Dr. Jones is officially a missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, serving among the high castes, educated and student groups in India. But his fame has spread far beyond India, and as a preacher and lecturer he has been in great demand elsewhere in Asia, in Europe, in Australia, and in both North and South America. A few years ago he conducted the annual Lenten services of the Greater New York Federation of Churches, and these addresses were broadcast across America by a great chain of stations.

In India, Dr. Jones counts among his intimate personal friends the Indian Christian poet, Dr. Rabindranath Tagore. In whose school in Bengal Dr. Jones has spent months studying India's culture and religion; Mahatma Gandhi, India's leader of the masses; Charles F. Andrews, missionary

Church Briefs

Meetings at Trinity Lutheran church next week will include:
Tuesday: vestry, 7:30 p. m., senior choir practice, 7:15 p. m.
Thursday: congregational watch party, Thursday 8 to 12 p. m.
Saturday: catechetical instruction class, 10 a. m.
Sunday, Jan. 3: Holy Communion morning and evening.

Trinity Lutheran church Lutheran League invites all members and friends of the congregation to the annual watch meeting to be held in the parish house beginning at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. A variety program is being arranged. A lunch will be served by members of the League. At 11:30 all will gather in the church for a brief but appropriate service to bid adieu to the year 1936, and welcome the year 1937.

The sermon topic at the First Methodist church Sunday will be "Assuring the Presence of God," a new year's topic. The choir will sing "Gloria to God" by Adams, with Mrs. J. P. Moffitt singing "The Virgin's Lullaby," by Buck. Prayer service will be held Wednesday at 7:15, and choir practice will be at 7:30 Thursday evening. The usual Epworth league program is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

The study in the Life of the Master will be Wednesday at 4 and 7:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church.

Christianity's Spread

Paul carried the gospel into Europe in response to a vision given him at Troas in which he heard a man calling, "Come over into Macedonia and help us." Here Luke, the physician, joined Paul's company.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

One of the early converts to Christianity in Europe was the jailor of Philippi who had scourged and imprisoned Paul and Silas for healing a demented slave girl. "What must I do to be saved?" was his appeal to Paul.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell and Alfred Z. Benson

After two years' imprisonment at Caesarea Paul appealed to Caesar and was brought to Rome. Here he spent two years in prison, preaching and writing epistles to his friends. (GOLDEN TEXT—Rev. 11:15.)

Christianity's Spread

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 27 is the Quarterly Review Lesson, the text assigned being Hebrews 2:14; 11:32-12:2; and the Golden Text, Rev. 11:15, "The kingdom of the world is become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.")

NO CHRISTIAN of any generation has done more for the spread of Christianity and the making of the kingdoms of this world the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ than has Paul of Tarsus, whose great missionary journeys and writings we here review.

Paul the Pioneer

Paul speaks of "making it his aim so to preach the gospel, not where Christ was already named, that he might not build upon another man's foundation." In accord with this ambition we find him carrying the gospel into Europe in response to the heavenly vision given him at Troas, and the call of the man of Macedonia. "Come over into Macedonia and help us." Here he shows his appreciation of the strategic value of the great cities of his day. Accordingly, entering into Europe, he headed for the cities of Philippi, Thessalonica, Berea, Athens and Corinth, to establish the gospel in these centers and challenge the Christians in each city to evangelize the country round about them.

Paul the Persecuted

At his baptism Paul was plainly warned by the Lord of "how many things he must suffer for Christ's name's sake." These sufferings came upon him at Philippi, where Paul and Silas were scourged and imprisoned for delivering a demented slave girl whose owners were commercializing her affliction. Again at Thessalonica the gospel's opponents, stigmatizing them as "these that have turned the world upside down," drove

TO LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS

FRIENDS: Reports have been circulated around Circleville during the last week concerning the removal of Company C., 112th Quartermaster Regiment, from this city. No definite information has been received, but apparently there is some movement under way at state headquarters or the reports would not be so numerous. Petitions are being circulated by local organizations to be sent to either the governor or adjutant general protesting against any change here. Circleville men organized the company in 1921, it has been an asset to Circleville, and should remain here. I hope Circleville organizations and residents use every influence to retain the company.

MR. G. P. HUNSICKER

DEAR SIR: Heartiest congratulations on your forty-fifth anniversary as a banker in Williamsport. Your institution has played a prominent part in the advancement of the community. Not only has your record as a banker been excellent, because you have devoted many years to Sunday school and fraternal work in your village.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Be sure you have your driver's license in your pocket when you are driving. A Columbus motorist was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $38.15, in police court last week for failure to produce his license after an accident on Route 23. This was the first case of its kind in the county and it should be a lesson to all. The youth had left his license at home.

TO HIGHWAY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: Again it is the wish of The Circuiteer to congratulate you for a real attempt to reduce the number of traffic deaths in Pickaway county. Your recent announcement that bids would be sought for relocation of the CCC highway in the Harrisburg vicinity is another move toward elimination of highway hazards in our county. The bridge, which will be straightened by your program, has been the scene of many fatal collisions. Last week you announced plans to rebuild a part of the Washington C. H. road, scene of other crashes. Pickaway countians are waiting hopefully for disclosure of plans to eliminate hazards at Routes 159 and 56, and Routes 22 and 104. We believe you will include some kind of project at these intersections before the year is ended.

TO COUNCILMEN

MEMBERS: It is surprising how fast your organization can act on some matters, then shift into low gear on others. At a recent meeting loafing in the main hall at the city building was brought up, discussed briefly, then strict orders were issued to the mayor to break up the practice. Many months ago appeals were made to councilmen to stop bill passing. Complaints were made by housewives who pick up handbills daily from their porches and yards. So far, councilmen have evaded the issue. Other central Ohio cities have adopted regulations that have proved satisfactory.

TO THE REV. H. A. SAYRE

DEAR SIR: I was pleased with the announcement you have appointed a committee of church members to organize a Boy Scout troop. Other churches should follow the same plan and get Scouting under way here as soon as possible. I believe when older residents realize how much interest the youth of the community will take in Scouting they will be more enthusiastic about financing a campaign for troop organization.

TO STIFFLER'S STORE

EMPLOYEES: Congratulations for your success in winning the first prize in the store decoration contest sponsored by Circleville business firms. Circleville stores had finer decorations this year than in any previous year, and enjoyed the best Yule business in many seasons. Next year I hope merchants and residents decorate their stores and homes so extensively this small city will receive the honor of being the best-decorated city in central Ohio.

TO CITY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: Since the curfew has proved its value in keeping juveniles off the streets at night it appears foolish to consider its abolishment. I suggest some method of rewiring the fire bell circuit to arrange so the bell can be tapped without interference with the alarm system. This would settle the controversy to the satisfaction of all concerned. Many parents have praised the mayor for reviving the curfew. A trip around the city at night is convincing of its value.

"Boy! What some people don't know about driving would fill a morgue." And the statistics, unfortunately, support the conclusion.

British newspapers are gradually catching up with the Simpson case but won't be able to get around the abdication until early next week.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up early, the youngster of the house attending to that for one day in the year, and in record time belowstairs to see whether or not Santa had been a visitor of the night. He had, and to the squeals of joy and laughter the bright wrappings were removed and thus stood revealed the Yuletide offerings. Gift giving at Christmas time may at certain periods of the shopping season seem somewhat foolish, but never on Christmas morning. How else than at this time of the year may so much pleasure be bought for so little?

Amid those surroundings could not help but wonder how others were faring and whether Santa in his haste to cover the world in a single night had overlooked any of his local legion of young believers. For if he did, the scrivener may have been responsible, due to the great bag left at his house. A gift for a good little boy and another for a good little girl were left by mistake and if they really were intended for children of the county, children who were missed by Santa, then they may be had on request. No obligation, no names, just a child telling me of being missed.

What a delightfully tired and satisfied feeling must be that of Santa on his way back to the North Pole. Picture the old chap dozing in his empty sleigh as his once prancing steeds trudge through the snowdrifts. Attempt to realize the satisfaction that must attend the man able to live up to world expectation.

Did meet Clark Will, the banker, and from him received an invitation to come and help him play with a toy train system installed two years ago and since then rapidly expanded. Expanding so fast, Clark says, that he fears a rail bond sale may be necessary soon.

Thanks, Clark. Thanks a lot, but I'll be busy for weeks to come, tinkering with a gift that in personal opinion stands even ahead of railroads. Always did want and never had the nerve to buy a fine wood working lathe. How the plant workers discovered that secret I do not know unless they saw the desire in my eyes as I aided Rotary in financing power tools for the firemen toy makers. Anyway, there it was under the tree on this fine Christmas morning, as complete a surprise and as grand a gift as I could dare desire. Even a motor with it.

Proud of it? Certainly! But prouder still of the good will that accompanied it from a fine and efficient force. Whether it is a package of cigars or an impossible necktie most of us at the Yuletide are prone to remark, "Just what I wanted." But this time it is said and meant. Thanks, you boys and girls. It's swell!

And praise be! Only two neckties and not a single pair of socks! Hardly a man is now alive who can boast of such a near miracle. Would not believe it myself until the day was done.

In the morning came Mr. and Mrs. Paul Valentine, and then Fay lugging a doll almost her size and all pop-eyed over the gifts left by Santa. Still puzzled, however, as to how he got all that stuff down the chimney. And in the afternoon came others, bringing tidings of holiday cheer. And so, on into the night, bringing to close a mighty fine Christmas among mighty fine folk.

DIET AND HEALTH

Harmful Posture Change Results from Obesity

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
TWO SAN FRANCISCO physicians have recently called attention in a very special way to an old subject, which should be of interest to all overweight people. They point out that a fault after middle age, but that the distribution of surplus fat, especially in men, those with a large pendulous abdomen, causes them to assume a posture which is distinctly detrimental to health. This may be true whether the patient is actually overweight or except for the paunch, really looks somewhat gaunt and thin. In fact, with a thin scraggy neck and head, and large potted abdomen, the effect may be just as bad as if there were general overweight everywhere.

What happens here is that the weight of the abdomen pulls on the diaphragm, which affects the aeration of the lungs, and to a certain extent the action of the heart; but even worse than that is its effect on the spine.

Body Balance Upset
With a large abdomen, the balance of the body is upset, and in order to compensate for this, the spine in the region of the neck and shoulders is rounded, the head thrust forward so that the entire spine looks like an inverted letter S.

Everybody must have noticed how certain people, especially men, after middle age, come to assume this stooping, head-thrust-forward posture over a large Santa Claus stomach.

They are further characterized by the fact that they have a somewhat purplish mottled complexion, due to the fact that the lungs are compressed and proper aeration is not obtained.

A curious symptom is shortness of breath when in the standing position, which appears when in the lying position. This is exactly opposite of the shortness of breath which occurs in heart failure, when the patients cannot get their breath while lying down, but can get it perfectly while standing up. It is due to the fact that the heavy pendulous abdomen pulls on the diaphragm in the upright position, and does not allow it to empty the lung completely in expiration.

Certain of the consequences of this condition and the treatment will be discussed in later articles this week.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendingen can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "After Digestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding Instructions for the Treatment of Diarrhea," "Renal Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

The BLOODHOUNDS Bay

By WALTER S. MASTERMAN

CHAPTER 32

Several things were evident from the state of Sylvia's bedroom. There were no marks of blood or signs of any struggle, and it seemed impossible that Sylvia and the two children should have been abducted without rousing the house or causing some noise. Then the noise of carrying them, if they had been dragged, surely even in this storm must have given an alarm? True, only Lady Severing slept in the front part of the house and the rest of the household were far away. But even then? There was something all wrong here. Why should the light have been left burning? It seemed more probable that Sylvia had become alarmed either genuinely or from nerves, and had taken the children to another room. But then, why had she not left some message for Reid?

One thing was certain—he could not rouse the household and give the alarm, nor could he conduct a search. As things stood, the only taken place it was hardly likely that the kidnappers would be so foolish as to remain in the house—or, at any rate, in a place where they could be found by him at this time of night.

Grave as the situation was, his duty obviously was to return to Reid and find out what he knew about the threatened danger, and in any case he did not like leaving the wounded man alone in the cottage.

He switched off the light in the window, thinking grimly that perhaps the extinguished signal might be seen by others, and made his way back by the way he had come. On the other side of the lake he looked back at the silent pile, like some gigantic monster hiding its dread secrets.

Soaking wet and desperately tired, he knocked softly at the door of the cottage. Getting no answer, he turned the handle, and it yielded to his touch. Reid had either been unable to reach the door to lock it, or had fainted away before he could do so. He was lying where Selden had left him, his face flushed, and breathing heavily. Selden looked at the door, and quietly set about making a fire in the old kitchen grate.

A damp steamy heat filled the room, but the storm outside had abated, and the sun was trying to break through the watery clouds. On a line across the fireplace the wet clothes of the two men were stretched forlornly.

Selden, wrapped in a blanket and looking like a rather decayed Red Indian, watched the face of the sleeping man anxiously. He was flushed and moved restlessly, muttering in his sleep, beset with nightmare.

"The sooner I get you into a proper bed the better, my friend," he said aloud, and the sick man opened his eyes. He gazed round in half-awakened bewilderment, and then horror sprang to his eyes, and he tried to sit up.

"Steady," Selden went to him. "How do you feel—bit stiff, eh?"

"What has happened? Why didn't you wake me? Is Sylvia safe?"

"One thing at a time, old man. You've had a nasty experience, and the immediate question is food. I want to get you to a proper bed and into the doctor's hands."

"Never mind that," Reid was getting excited and feverish. Selden recounted his adventure in the Abbey, stressing the fact that there had been no sign of a struggle, and that the light had not been switched off.

"Good Lord! And I was lying here like a log while you were doing my job and risking your life. But we must get to work at once."

"Now listen quietly to me, Reid, and don't get excited, or it will mean a fortnight down with fever. We've got to discuss this affair dispassionately, and hurry will do no good. I must get you something to eat and drink, and I'm pretty peckish myself. By this time the people at the Abbey must have found out that Sylvia and the children have gone. What will Lady Severing do? She can give you a good guess—she'll telephone to Hutchins. He'll be there this morning investigating, and probably wire for me. I shall come down at once—do you follow me?"

"But surely you are going to explain matters—I'm all in the dark. Where have you been all this time?"

Selden laughed heartily. "When we've got over this business we must have a talk, but not now. I've learnt a good lot already."

"Tell me one thing," Reid said

"I can't tell you how pleased I am to find you here."

But if I go there now it will give me the game away." Reid responded: "I am in your hands. But as far as food is concerned, I only left here yesterday, and not quite knowing what would happen at the Abbey I did not trouble to take away my small stores. I have paid rent in advance." He gave the ghost of a smile.

"Capital! In that cupboard, I suppose?" Reid nodded, and Selden soon had a kettle on and a tin of soup opened.

They made a scratch meal almost in silence, for Selden insisted on waiting till it was over before discussing anything. Then, he clothed himself in his semi-dry clothes with a shiver, and helped Reid to don underclothes and a dressing gown.

Hot tea and soup restored the wounded man somewhat, and with a cigarette lighted he prepared to listen with what patience he could. "We must wait here," Selden said deliberately. "There are several reasons. First, your clothes are at the Abbey and you can't go there yet."

"Why not?" Reid said, looking at the other in wonder. "Because, unless my brain is at fault, we shall have Colonel Graham here before long, and until you have seen him we mustn't make a move."

"You think he'll dare to come here?"

"I am nearly sure. He'll have found the dead hounds and will think that you shot them. You must let him think that. He will probably realize that a fight took place by the torn bits of cloth and other marks, and will think that you dragged yourself to the cottage."

"Why not to the Abbey?" Selden laughed. "To read his mind. If you had gone to the Abbey, wouldn't you have raised the devil, and by this time either the police would have been at Paynton Manor or he would have heard from her."

"That sounds plausible. But if he comes, won't he try to finish off what the cursed hounds began?"

"Not in the least. Mind, I shall be hiding in your bedroom above. I must on no account appear in this affair—you haven't even seen me. Keep that automatic handy, but I don't think you will want it—this is a case of cunning rather than force. Whatever happens, don't bring me in. If things turn out as I anticipate, I shall see you this afternoon."

"But surely you are going to explain matters—I'm all in the dark. Where have you been all this time?"

Selden laughed heartily. "When we've got over this business we must have a talk, but not now. I've learnt a good lot already."

Bride Wears Mother's Gown At Own Wedding

Mary Alice Scothorn Marries Richard Peters

At a wedding of simple appointments, Miss Mary Alice Scothorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Scothorn, Ashville, became the bride of Mr. Richard Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Peters, Ashville, on Christmas Day.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of the immediate families at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with Rev. W. Newton Mantle, of Mt. Sterling, officiating.

The Scothorn home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, a color scheme of pink and white being carried out using white chrysanthemums, and pink roses in profusion.

The dress worn by Miss Scothorn for her marriage was made of Alice blue crepe, trimmed in chiffon, and was her mother's wedding dress. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds, gardenias and fern.

The couple was unattended. Immediately following the ceremony, a buffet lunch, appropriate to the season, was served.

Mrs. Peters was graduated from Walnut township school in the class of 1931, and of Capital university, class of '33. She is a teacher in the Ashville school. Mr. Peters graduated in the class of 1934, from the college of engineering, Ohio State university, and is at present employed by Burgess and Niple, Columbus engineers.

After a short wedding trip, the newly weds will be at home to their friends at the home of Mr. Peters' father and mother in Ashville where they will reside until early summer.

If Great Outdoors Ruffles Your Hair Net Advised to Keep it Well-Groomed

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

WOMEN in the majority of countries, I have found, usually raise a squawk if they are forced to wait a short time in order to be attended to in a beauty shop. But I wonder what these impatient damsels would do if they had to wait three hours for service. For that's what women often have to do over in China, I'm told.

When a Chinese lass goes to a beauty shop to have her hair arranged, it seems, the job takes hours to complete, and the other patrons must wait their turn. But when the hair once is arranged, it is kept in that form for days.

Indeed, Chinese girls even sleep on wooden bolsters, so that their coiffures do not become disarranged!

Of course, the average lass who loves her comfort wouldn't think of sleeping on a wooden excuse for a pillow just for the sake of her coiffure. And she certainly wouldn't consent to letting her tresses go without combing and brushing for days at a time.

But there are occasions, nevertheless, when girls wish their hair would retain the freshly-groomed appearance that it possesses when they first leave their beauty shops!

Outdoors Hard on Hair
The busy young lass who

Gladys George
Isn't her coiffure lovely?

spends much of her afternoons out of doors is the one who usually has the most difficulty in keeping her tresses arranged. And that's rather tough, if she has an important engagement in the evening.

An evening coiffure demands that waves and ringlets be perfect. But you can't go motoring or hiking, or view an exciting football game these crisp, breezy days without having your coiffure become a bit ruffled and disordered.

I've attended quite a number of football games already this season, and you probably have, too. I've found, however, that the perfect cure for that hair worry is one of those old-fashioned hair nets that constituted so important a part of the coiffures of grannies' day. Hair nets, you know, now come in all different shades, and when properly worn really are perfectly invisible. And they are most helpful in keeping the coiffure tidy.

Keeps Hair Neat

If you have a big date with your favorite college beau, and intend going out to a game in the afternoon to see him do his stuff for dear old Alma Mater, try using a hair net in order to keep your hair perfectly coiffed. First insert a few hairpins in your waves and ringlets. Then place the net over your head and pin it securely but not too tightly. You'll find that this will keep your crowning glory in perfect shape for evening display.

Three-fourths cup butter
One-half teaspoon salt
Mix all together as for pie crust, working with fingertips. When evenly blended place a little more than half the mixture in the bottom and up the sides of a 9 inch square pan, which has been well buttered. Press lightly, cover with cooled date paste.

MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN

PATTERN 9120

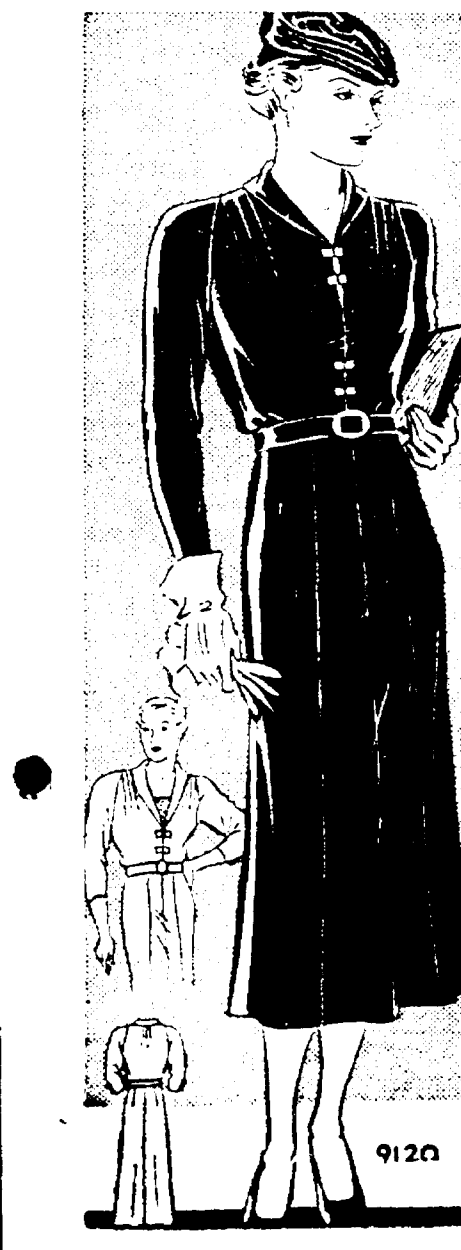

A frock that will "rise to any occasion"—this slim o' line Marian Martin "flatterer" You'll wear it to parties, teas, and every gay event of this sparkling season, confident of its charm and dignity. Versatile! — the two way neckline that may wear its collar fastened high with novelty buttons or turned back to reveal a dainty vestee (smart in contrasting lace or satin). You've yet another choice in the fetching raglan sleeves, too, for they may be either wrist or "bracelet" length! "Amateur" seamstresses will welcome the simplicity of Pattern 9120, and deem its accompanying Complete Diagrammed Sew Chart most valuable. Most effective is the graceful flare of the gored skirt. Smart as can be in dull-finish satin or crepe.

Pattern 9120 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly: NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

BE SURE TO STATE SIZE. Be sure to order the NEW ISSUE OF OUR MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK! It is the first to wear the latest Fall models that it shows — for home, business, shopping, sports, parties. See the thrilling pages of special slenderizing designs — the clever models for children, growing girls, debs — the latest fashions and costume accessories. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS FOR BOTH WHEN ORDERED TOGETHER.

Send your order to The Herald, Pattern Department, 216 N. Court-st., Circleville, Ohio.

Stitchery Has Beauty That Endures

Flowers that never saw a garden, yet "real enough to fool a bee" are these that tumble joyously from their graceful basket to adorn a bedspread, scarf or pillow. You'll love such easy stitchery — just lazy, daisy stitch, with daisy centers in French knots. Your needle will make quick work of the basket, too — entirely in running stitch. Best to do them in joyfully colored silk floss or six-strand cotton. In pattern 5758 you will find a transfer pattern of a basket 18"x21" inches and a motif 4 1/2"x17 1/2" inches and four motifs 2 1/4"x3 inches; a color chart; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used.

ARL HUBBELL, OF GIANTS, NOMINATED AS 1936'S OUTSTANDING ATHLETE

HURLER SCORES GRAND SLAM IN NATIONAL LOOP

Schmeling, Owens, Perry, Manero and Others Overshadowed

MAY BE BEST SOUTHPAW

16-Game Winning Streak Unbroken at Close

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 — (UP) — Turn back the sports calendar day by day through 1936 and see if you can answer the question: "What was the most outstanding achievement by an individual?"

Max Schmeling's astounding K. O. of Joe Louis . . . Jesse Owens' dazzling sprinting and jumping at Berlin . . . Fred Perry's dramatic tennis comeback . . . Tony Manero's blazing finish to win the U. S. open golf title . . . Alice Marble's triumph over Helen Jacobs for the U. S. women's tennis title . . . Glenn Morris' decathlon victory at Berlin . . . Lou Gehrig's "iron man" feats . . . Larry Kelley's phenomenal pass-catching —

Hubbell Nominated

These are only a few of the heroic individual deeds of 1936 taken at random from a year crowded with scintillating performances. There were many others and one of them was carved out by Carl Owen Hubbell, lanky, hollow-cheeked southpaw from Meeker, Okla. For many reasons Hubbell's magnificent pitching for the New York Giants is our nomination for the year's outstanding individual feat.

Four of these reasons are:

1. Won 16 straight games, longest winning streak by a National league pitcher in 24 years.
2. Most effective National league pitcher with an earned run average of 2.41.
3. Best won and lost record in the National league with 25 victories and 6 defeats for a mark of .813.
4. Inspirational leader in the Giants' drive from second division to the pennant.

The records are filled with praise for Hubbell, who as time goes on may win a niche in baseball's Hall of Fame as the game's greatest southpaw. Since 1912 only six others — Alexander in 1915 and 1916, Luque in 1923, Vance in 1924, Kremer in 1926, Hoot in 1929 and Warneke in 1932 — have made a grand slam of pitching laurels in the National league by leading in effectiveness and percentage.

Hubbell's 16-game winning streak remained unbroken when the season ended. He might have gone on to tie or better the string of 19 hung up by Rube Marquard, 1912 if given the chance.

ACROSS THE COURT

By WALTER JOHNS

Central Press Sports Writer

BASKETBALL is going to town. The game is demanding bigger and better indoor sports auditoriums.

Two years ago collegiate basketball was introduced in New York's Madison Square Garden. Fans liked it. Last year about 200,000 persons witnessed games held in the Garden and 18,075 spectators piled into the show-place on one occasion to break all records for attendance at a basketball game.

New York started it by offering double-headers and the shows clicked. Chicago followed and crowds attended. Philadelphia followed and now another city trying it is Cleveland, which has four cards of double-headers set for the Public Hall, which seats over 12,000.

Rosebush Behind

Max Rosenblum, Cleveland sportswriter, who backed the Original Celtics in the American professional basketball loop several years ago, is the man behind the Cleveland undertaking. Among the teams scheduled to play on double-header cards are Stanford, Notre Dame and C. C. N. Y. Realizing the advancement of basketball to a truly major sport, promoters of the Havana festival have added a basketball game to the sports card, and not to be outdone by that Sugar Bowl officials lined one up.

Yes, I guess basketball is really going places. And now we'll go along as far west as Iowa, where we want to give a few wild and ends on the Hawkeye team and one of Coach Rolfe Williams' favorite plays.

Iowa finished in a tie for sixth in the Big Ten last year. They'll do better this year. They have won four straight non-conference games.

For the first time in eight years, Coach Williams has 10 veterans back. He'll be able to use two teams. Probably the most astounding feature of Williams' men is that his three centers average six feet six inches! They should, and do, get the tap.

For conference foes, Iowa must play Indiana, Purdue, Illinois and Northwestern. Tough babies all.

Iowa's two squads line up something like this: Walley Gaddis and Ben Stephens, forwards; Jack Drees, center, and Capt. Ken Suensens and Joe Van Vesseldyk, guards. The other club is composed of San Johnson and Elmer Bratten, forwards; Matt Walsh, center, and Vic Belger and Al Bobby, guards.

Coach Williams is in his eighth season as head coach of the Hawkeyes. He came to Iowa in 1924 as assistant coach, after he was graduated with a B. A. from Wisconsin.

East-West Grid Aces Say Howdy

THEY'LL be on opposite sides in the annual East-West game in Kezar stadium, San Francisco, New York's Day, but at the moment these two All-American football players are real friendly. At the left is Ed Widseth, giant tackle of the University of Minnesota team, who'll play with the East team. At the right, Sam Francis, bruising fullback of the Nebraska team, who'll play with the West.

GOLDENEYE HOPE ARLEDGE TAKES OF BARONI FOR PLACE OF BYRD ANITA HANDICAP ON C. A. C. CARD

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 26 — (UP)—A. A. Baroni, who last year won the Christmas handicap at the opening day of the Santa Anita track and then added the rich $100,000 Santa Anita handicap with Top Row, today set his sights on a repetition of the double victory. This year Goldeneye will carry his money and his hopes.

Goldeneye tucked away the $5,000 added Christmas stakes yesterday for Baroni when he romped in five lengths ahead of Sangreal. Ariel Cross was third, a neck ahead of Giant Killer. Coupled with Ann O'Ruleyin the betting, Goldeneye paid $19.58 and $4.80. Most of the 40,000 fans had their bets on Special Agent, Doran and Giant Killer. Seabiscuit and Accolade, pre-game favorites, were scratched when overnight rain made the going heavy.

Goldeneye, purchased last year for $6,000 got away slow and was 10th at the halfway post and sixth at the three-quarters mark. He was two lengths behind Sangreal when they turned into the stretch, but when Jockey Maury Peters let him out he quickly overhauled Sangreal and won going away.

COWS TO BE EAR-MARKED

DAVIS, Cal. (UP)—Ear-marked cows and calves hereafter will take their place alongside ear-marked budget items and the like. The State Agricultural College has accepted the Federal suggestion of an ear-marking plan to identify prime dairy stock.

About This And That In Many Sports

Harry Kipke Again

Anyone could tell looking at Columbus sports pages that it is approaching the first of the year — Harry Kipke is annually reported on his way out of a job at Michigan — Anyway, it's O. K. to keep predicting it every year, maybe sometime the guess will be correct . . .

Owens vs. Horse

Jesse Owens takes off a big bite today; he runs against a race horse on a Havana, Cuba, track. The race will be of 100 yards, and will open an international sports week. The program will be topped with a football game between Villanova and Auburn on New Year's Day — Owens, who is expected to gain a good start on the horse, is not expected to win the race . . .

County Games Jan. 8

When county basketball teams resume activities Jan. 8 here is the lineup of games: Salt Creek at New Holland, Washington at Williamsport, Ashville at Walnut, with a very important girls' game on top; Muhlenberg at Pickaway, Scioto at Perry, in a boys' game that will make or break the Commercial Point lads, and Monroe at Darby . . .

Umpires Get Boost

It's good news to read that umpires are getting a break in the American league — An increase in salary is provided each, and along with the boost goes some praise from President Will Harridge . . .

Collins Is Winner

That central Ohio is rapidly moving to the front in the racing world is evidenced again in the victory of Ike Collins' Paradisical in the Christmas handicap at Tropical park, Coral Gables, Fla. — The horse ran through a steady rain — Collins lives at Lancaster and has been active for many years in the horse racing game — The horse show presented during the Pumpkin Show made many Circleville residents horse-minded.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Sweet swingin' songs . . . and how he Bings 'em! He's croonin' for coins . . . a vagabond troubadour serenades a two-timin' gal! Rippling rhythm-m-m-m-s to make your feet dance . . . marvelous melodies to make your heart leap . . . as Crosby rambles the open road in Columbia's "Pennies from Heaven," showing Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre! It's the happiest of all his happy hits!

With such swaggle songs as "So Do I," "Let's Call a Heart a Heart," "Pennies from Heaven," "One Two, Button Your Shoe," and "Skeleton in the Closet," "Pennies from Heaven" makes the year's most swaggle picture!

Featured with Bing are Madge Evans, little Edith Fellows, Donald Meek, and Louis Armstrong, and his famous swing band. Norman Z. McLeod directed. Jo Swerling wrote the screen play.

AT THE GRAND

Will Rogers does everything, even to twirling his rope in "Ambassador Bill," his memorable Fox triumph playing a return engagement in response to popular demand at the Grand Theatre. The picture overflows with the Rogers wit from beginning to end.

Presenting him as the easy-going Ambassador to a court glittering with pomp, the story offers Will a hilarious opportunity for the laconic wit and timely wise-cracking that endeared him to millions.

AT THE CIRCLE

W. C. Fields is back in the noise and color of the carnival, hawking patent medicines and running a small shell game on the side in "Poppy," coming Sunday to the Circle Theatre. The picture marks his return to the screen after a serious illness of eight months.

"Poppy" deals with the adventures of Fields, as a veteran "med man," and Poppy the young girl who appears as his daughter.

The two manage to set up a concession in the carnival which has moved into a small Middle-Western town. Fields is going strong when he hears of an estate in the town which is waiting the appearance of his missing owner, a young girl.

Without telling the girl, Rochelle Hudson, he manages a scheme to get her recognized as the heiress. Meanwhile Rochelle has fallen in love with Richard Cromwell, the son of the town's mayor.

Store Has 1-Inch Frontage

RACINE, Wis. (UP)—While other Main Street merchants here dread the onset of winter snow drifts, Edward J. Schowalter is complacent in the knowledge that his triangular building has only one inch of frontage to keep clear on that street.

Here's how easy it is:

Decide what you want to say in your ad. Then write, leaving out unnecessary words.

CALL 782 if you have a phone or drop by the service desk, Herald office. Read your ad to the ad-taker. She will help you with it, perhaps shorten it, and then will read it back to you for O. K.

That's all . . . except to sit back and wait for results which won't be long in coming because nearly everyone reads the Herald Classified Ads.

RANCHER SHOPS BY AIR

MT. WHITNEY, Cal. (UP)—Gordan H. Campbell, ranchman on the eastern slopes of the Sierra Madre Mountains, has abandoned the automobile in favor of his private airplane for shopping trips to Los Angeles and other cities.

In some respects, it seems too bad that England has lost an opportunity to have another Merrie Monarch.

Legal Notice

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals for the construction of a "Two Story and Basement Addition to the Pickaway County Court House at Circleville, Ohio," will be received at the Office of the Board of County Commissioners in said Court House, until Twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on January 11, 1937, and at that time and place will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The proposed work consists of: Excavation, concrete work, Brick, Glass, Terrazzo, Tile, a n d Work, Plaster, Roofing, Paint and Marble, Floor and Wall Coverings, Carpentry, Wood Work and Finishing, Hardware, Plumbing, and Sewer, Steam, Heat and Electric Wiring and Light Fixtures.

Copies of plans, specifications and contract documents are on file in the office of the County Auditor and of the Architect, Harry W. Linn, 143 South Monroe Ave., Columbus, Ohio, who are available for inspection by prospective bidders and where they may be obtained upon a deposit of Seven Dollars ($7.00) which will be returned to any bona fide bidder upon return of the Plans, Specifications and all Bidding Forms within ten days from day of receiving Bids. Bids, when received, will be held in escrow until the date of opening. A charge of $2.00 will be made to cover cost of reproduction of the Plans, Specifications and Bidding Forms, and within thirty (30) days will be returned to the bidder. All proposals shall be signed and submitted on blanks which may be obtained from the Architect or County Auditor.

Proposals must contain the name of every person interested therein, and shall be accompanied by either a Proposal Bond with a Surety Bond with Surety satisfactory to the Board of County Commissioners, or by a certified check on a solvent bank in an amount of not less than thirty (30) days of the bid plus the highest alternate bid drawn in favor of the Board of County Commissioners.

Proposals shall be accompanied by proof of authority of the bidder or agent signing the bid, together with a recent financial statement of the Surety Company. The proposed bond or certified check submitted with a bid will be held as a guarantee that if the bidder after the contract has been entered into, Proposal bonds and certified checks will be returned to all bidders after the contract has been entered into. The amount of these bonds and checks shall be determined by the Board of County Commissioners.

Particular attention is called to the Statutory requirements of the Board of County Commissioners of Corporations organized under the laws of any other state. Special attention is called to the requirement of Public Liability Insurance, Property Damage Insurance, and Workmen's Compensation Insurance, which are included in the proposed contract documents, and which, unless fixed by law, will be designated by the owner, after his contract with the contractor are awarded.

The right is reserved by the Board of County Commissioners to reject any or all bids and waive informality. The Board of County Commissioners. H. W. LINN, Clerk. C. E. WRIGHT, (Dec. 19, 24, Jan. 2, 9) D.

half of their game by letting Perry have the margin by a score of 13-6. After the half the Darby forces were brought together and they defeated the Perry boys by a slight margin of 20-17.  The Senior English class has just finished "The Tragedy of MacBeth," by William Shakespeare. Now that they have finished the play they are required by their instructor, Miss De Muth, to write a character sketch, character wheel, and a general outline of the play. The class liked the play ever so much and seemed to be at all times held by its excitement and suspense.  The English classes are seeing another of Shakespeare's fine contributions, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," at the Grand Opera House in Circleville.  Monday evening the senior class were the guests of Jane Eakin daughter of Everett J. Eakin, for a fine and entertaining Christmas party. Bidding went: North, 4-Hearts, after two passes. South knew his partner's opening bids. North never would have made an opening bid in hearts unless he could count a reasonably safe eight tricks in his own hand. Upon great length and several fairly safe tricks the opening bid would have been only 3-Hearts. With the lead coming up to him, South felt justified in counting his own cards at four tricks, which should mean a small slam at no trump, so he made that bid and neither defender dared double.

Against a grand slam West would have had no option. He must have led his Ace of spades, which would have defeated the contract. Against the small slam he had two things to consider: laying down the Ace might just hand the contract to declarer. On the other hand leading any other suit might give him a grand slam, by allowing South to discard all losers on dummy's long hearts. He decided to play safe, and led off his Ace, to view dummy for the next lead. When East played low, West led his lowest club, but the slam was assured, and South spread his hand for 6-odd. Had not West led his Ace the score would have been 7-odd.

North could only have made 5-odd at hearts, as the opening lead would have been the Q of spades, giving defenders two immediate tricks. Bidding 6-No Trumps was a brilliant idea.

South played 6-Spades. The opening lead was the Ace of diamonds, followed by the K of hearts. Before tomorrow look over the holdings. Only East and West were vulnerable. West jumped to 5-Diamonds, over an opening bid of 2-Spades. Was that a good bid? Would it have paid West to bid higher than he did?

COUNTY SOLON TO VISIT MARX ABOUT RUMORS

Representative to Do All Possible to Keep O.N.G. Outfit in Circleville

ASSEMBLY MEETS MONDAY

Trucks to Be Taken to Other Ohio City?

Clark K. Hunsicker, W. Union street, Pickaway county's representative in the general assembly, has promised to "go to bat" Monday to do his best to keep Company C. 112th Quartermaster regiment, in Circleville.

Rumors have been circulated in recent weeks that the Ohio National Guard planned to transfer the outfit to another city. Adjutant General Emil Marx, of St. Mary's, will not be back in his Columbus office until the first of next week, so he could not be reached for a statement concerning the rumors.

Mr. Hunsicker will return to the capital Monday, with other members of the house, to concur in Senate amendments to several measures. He plans to investigate the report when he is in Columbus.

There are 15 trucks in the outfit stationed in Circleville. Frank Littleton is commanding officer of the company.

Petitions have been placed in the hands of fraternal and civic bodies to oppose transfer of the guard outfit.

FEAR OF INJURY ENDS AS PINKY ARRIVES HOME

The prediction of a fortune teller that some bad luck was awaiting in the near future for Morton "Pinky" Reichelderfer, 19, E. Franklin street, created considerable excitement Friday night.

Reichelderfer and three friends, Paul Weaver, W. High street, Albert Brown, and Harry Richey, R. Scioto street, were riding on Route 23, south, when Weaver's car ran out of gasoline. Reichelderfer told his friends he would go after gasoline. He was picked up by a passing autoist and instead of stopping at a filling station near Scioto creek he rode into Circleville.

Remembering the warning words of the fortune teller his friends believed he may have been in an accident when he failed to return so officers were notified and a search started. It ended when "Pinky" walked into his home after stopping at an uptown restaurant.

The sheriff's office and state highway patrol helped in the search for the youth.

YOUTHS FACING PERJURY CHARGE BEFORE YOUNG

One Circleville youth was in the county jail Thursday and another at liberty under $250 bond on complaints filed against them in juvenile court Wednesday by Patrolman George Green.

The youths are Maynard Keaton, 17, and Merle Ankrom, 16, both of Beantown. Keaton is in jail while Ankrom was released under bond. They are accused of falsely swearing they were 18 years of age to procure chauffeur's licenses.

Another complaint against Keaton charges him with reckless driving on Route 23.
